

Presentation

We present to you, dear reader of the Academic Journal, yet another publication in the hope of contributing to the construction of a selected, solid and qualified source of juridical debate and a place for sharing and exchange of ideas.

This edition follows its standard of excellence with the contribution of selected qualified authors. Among them, we have the great honor of receiving the valuable contribution of Professor Paulo Bonavides, a global reference in Constitutional Law and Professor Honoris causa at our Superior School, about the 30 years of the Federal Constitution of 1988.

Given that the Superior School for Public Prosecutors (SSPP) in Ceará also celebrates 30 years of existence in July, the contribution of the prestigious Professor Bonavides could not have come at a better time. Just months younger than our Constitution, our schools have been the stage for great juridical debates, meetings, seminars and workshops and have educated hundreds of specialists in different areas of knowledge, working with special partners that were decisive for the success along the way, like the Government of Ceará's Network of Schools with which we maintain close ties of cooperation.

In addition to this, the current edition has contributions from Argentina and Peru. As for Brazil, not only relevant local academic work is represented but also writers from Amazonas, Pará, and Rio Grande do Sul.

Our Academic Journal comes in two versions; electronic and print and our gratitude goes to the Editorial Council of SSPP for the great work done, as well as the diminutive but competent team that is the driving force behind the activities of the SSPP. This journal is the fruit of many arduous and zealous hands and minds involved in the work of educating.

We look forward to your contribution to our coming editions.

Enjoy!

Fortaleza, July 2019

Flávia Soares Unneberg

Public Prosecutor

General Director of SSPP